Main body (250 words maximum):

Background: Aging changes occur at every level of facial anatomy and include a combination of skeletal remodelling, the loss and repositioning of facial fat, tissue laxity and changes in skin quality. A lot of patients prefer minimally invasive, safe, and evidence-based treatment. Hyaluronic acid (HA) filler injection meet these conditions.

Objective: To explain the anatomical changes at lower face and neck with aging, and introduce rejuvenation treatment using HA filler injection.

Methods: A brief review of the paper about chin augmentation, marionette line correction, neck rejuvenation using injectable fillers, and, the author's experience in these areas, will be explained.

Results: Lower face and neck rejuvenation using injectable fillers can be performed effectively and safely with anatomical knowledge of the regions and appropriate filler selection. The author will explain both injection techniques and appropriate filler for each area. Potential complications and concomitant treatments will also be reviewed.

Conclusion: Customized treatments are necessary to achieve lower face and neck rejuvenation.
