

Deep glabellar furrow, infraorbital hollowness and nasolabial folds are just few of the chronic manifestations of the aging process of the face. These aging features nonverbally communicate a negative impression about one's personality or character. Hence, patients with such concerns on their face come to our clinics for a treatment that's safe, effective, and free of adverse effects or complications. So we usually recommend dermal filler as the primary treatment to correct deep fixed lines or folds, and restore volume loss. regenerate skin integrity and improve skin texture. However, due to reports of dire complications from this primary treatment , and patients becoming aware of blindness complications from filler injections, what other minimally invasive procedure could we utilize that can work as tissue filler and volumizer, and will regenerate from within, and not cause unfavorable outcomes? This lecture aims to add in our treatment armamentarium product materials, techniques and methods, as well as share some pearls for achieving optimal results, and yield satisfied clients, with improvements not only in their physical looks, but also in the psychosocial aspect of their life.
